RED CROSS XMAS STAMP SALES

The first purchaser of the 1919 issue of the Red Cross Christmas seals is the prince of Wales. He bought the seals while in Washington from five-year-old Adrienne Mayer, "the littlest modern health crusader," recently decorated by General Pershing for attaining a perfect score in the children's health crusade against disease.

The royal visitor was not too busy in his crowded schedule of entertainment and sight-seeing to endorse the fight against tuberculosis which the Red Cross Christmas seal represents.

"Startling facts on public health conditions were shown by the medical examination of millions of men during the war," the prince said. "These facts have demonstrated clearly the necessity of attacking harder than ever such menaces as tuberculosis. I am sure this world-wide work has the approval of every thoughtful person. The seals really represent the ounce of prevention which will win the campaign all success."

More than 650,000,000 seals must be sold to defray the expense of this nationwide movement. The ten-day sale will begin on December 1.

FRENCH FRANC HURTS TAHITI

(Correspondence Associated Press)
PAPEETE, Tahiti, Oct. 2.—Depreciation of the French franc has brought forth consideration of a proposal for petitioning the home government to permit the adoption of the American dollar or the English pound sterling as the standard of value for the Society Islands under French control.

The opinion is frequently expressed that conditions in these islands are not in any way similar to those in France, yet the islands are penalized by trade by being a tributary to France.

Under present circumstances, it is pointed out, it is well nigh impossible to establish any stable conditions either in the purchase of local produce or in the engagement of supplies from abroad.

GEN. FELIPE ANGELES EXECUTED AT DAWN

(By Associated Press)
EL PASO, Nov. 26.—General Felipe Angeles, Mexican revolutionary leader and famed throughout the world as a military genius, was executed by a Carranza firing squad at Chihuahua City early today following his conviction with two companions on charges of rebellion against the Mexican government, according to telegraphic reports from Chihuahua City today.

The trial was the most sensational ever held in Chihuahua City, where Angeles and two companions were brought after their capture near Parral by state volunteer troops November 18. Four companions were captured with Angeles after their discovery in a cave. Two of these already have been executed by Carranza troops. Of the others in the small party with General Angeles five were killed in the fight that ensued in trying to escape from the state troops. Angeles apparently was unmoved as sentence was passed. Throughout the trial he presented a smiling countenance to his accusers.

At times persons in the audience halted the trial of General Angeles with pleas for clemency. Several hundred women were present, including several social leaders, and they many times interrupted the court to plead for Angeles. Many pleas for clemency also were sent in President Carranza at Mexico City. A delegation of French citizens, residents of El Paso, waited upon the court and presented a petition for clemency because of Angeles' many services to France and the allies during the war, for which he was made chevalier of the Legion of Honor.
